APRIL 24, 1914, NORWAY, MAINE.

VOLUME XLV.

FRANCIS A. FOX OF PORTER, (P. O. Kezar Falls, Me.)
Democratic Candidate for Senator from Oxford County

Norway Municipal Court.

Judge, WM. F. JONES.

The continued case of William Adams of Albany, was held at the Municipal court room, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Judge William F. Jones called the court to order, stating that the respondent had been arraigned on Friday, April 10, and pleaded guilty to the charge of murder of his daughter, Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings.

The county attorney, Frederick R. Dyer of Buckfield called the witnesses for the state. The first was Dr. H. L. Bartlett, medical examiner for Oxford county. He testified as to the condition in which he found the body of Mrs. Ethel Cummings, that there were no signs of life on the body, only the gun shot in the mouth and the marks of the powder about the mouth. He was of the opinion that the girl committed suicide by placing the gun in her mouth and rapped it against the stove to discharge it. The gun being left in such a way that it cannot be cooked.

Among the other witnesses were Sheriff W. O. Frothingham and coroner and State detective, A. P. Bassett, who testified as to their visit to the Adams home after the tragedy, the appearance of things about the house and the manner in which the body lay, etc.

Charles R. Morey of Albany, a cousin of Mrs. Ethel Cummings testified that he lived a quarter of a mile from the Adams home. The day before Ethel's death she was at the Morey home and during the conversation said that she didn't know what to do with herself. In talking about the place her father was intending to buy said that she should never see it. Mr. Morey said she seemed very much discouraged and despondent.

The first Mr. Morey knew of the shooting was about a half hour afterward when Mr. Adams came to his pasture where he was working and hollered to him, "Maude has shot herself" and he immediately returned with Adams. The Morays and Adams were on the best of terms.

Sherman C. Cummings of Groton, Vt., husband of Ethel Cummings took the stand and testified that his wife had seemed happy and contented at her father's during the early part of the winter but for the past month had not been happy and complained that her people had not treated her well. Her letters showed signs of despondency and in general she threatened to blow out her brains.

The county attorney stated that if the evidence which had been presented at this hearing had been presented as an inquest the verdict would have been that she committed suicide.

Judge Jones called the respondent and discharged him, finding no case against him.

The property, officers and men of Co. D, 2d Inf., were inspected Monday evening, April 20, 1914, by 1st Lieut. Edwin Butcher, 15th Inf., U. S. A., the U. S. inspecting officer.

The events of the last few years in Mexico which is responsible for the present strained relations with that bandit ridden Mecca for anarchists render it highly probable that the Second Maine Infantry will be mobilized in the near future for foreign service.

The Volunteer Army Bill is being rushed through Congress so as to allow the U. S. Government to order National guard organizations beyond the limits of the U. S. This bill has passed the Senate and will go to President Wilson for his signature, at once.

In case of a call for troops, Co. D will be recruited to war strength, this will necessitate the enlistment of about 75 new men.

The recruits must conform to the following general requirements:—They must be between the ages of 18 and 45 inclusive, either married or unmarried. Minors must obtain written consent of their parents or guardians if any. They must be citizens of the U. S. or take out papers declaring their intention to do so. No man will be accepted if less than five feet, four inches in height, even if being physically perfect otherwise.

The State laws require that when a married man is ordered into service, that the responsible officer shall assist or support his family if necessary.

Letters from Canada to Texas have been received from former members of the company asking to be notified at once in case of a call to arms, and not be left behind.

There are two plans afoot in case of an order to mobilize, one provides that companies will mobilize at their home stations, recruit to war strength, and at the end of a period of ten days or two weeks rendezvous at the Regimental depot where they will entrain for the front. The other plan provides for the mobilizing of the Regiment at Augusta within 24 hours of the call, leaving at the home station an officer and detail of men to recruit their company to war strength.

It is certain that the Second Maine Inf. would be in the thick of the excitement, the records at Washington rank the Regiment as the best in New England, considered from the point of field efficiency.

One of the best in the United States, the 1st N. Y. ranking first.

It is not known for certain just where the Regiment would be sent, but high officials at Washington indicated that it would proceed to the Texas border and join a column which will march on Saltillo or would embark at some point on the Atlantic Seaboard for Vera Cruz and take part in the advance on Mexico City.

Should a call be received the Armory at Norwold for recruiting day and night. It is expected that a recruiting party would be sent to tour the surrounding towns.

Man's Lucky Find

Will Interest Readers of the Advertiser.

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorders, gravel, dropsical swellings, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by a Norway man.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "The public statement I gave about Doan's Kidney pills several years ago, was right in every particular. I used this remedy, getting it from Stone's Drug Store, and I am glad to say that it is the best one on the market. Sometimes when I catch cold, it settles on my kidneys, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney pills give me relief."

The above statement must carry convictions to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Foster had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

My Castle.

Written for the Advertiser.

I built me a castle stately and grand,

With bright domes of ruby and emerald tint,

And with white pearls gaily to unfold.

And I said,—with my youth and health and my castle great treasures shall hold,

I will harbor no evil, and I will no regret

And nothing shall diminish the gold.

There all my heart's longings shall be satisfied,

And from my loved castle I never will stray;

I will see that no evil shall dim my fair skies,

That all be like dreams of a bright summer's day.

But alas! for those hopes they are shattered

And dead.

The turrets are gone, and the gold is but rust,

My fair castle towering so high in the air,

Has fallen to earth, and has crumbled to dust.

O bright hopes and visions that make life so fair,

How oft do I think of my castle so grand,

With its glittering banners of hope all unfurled

And with faith ever trusting all storms to withstand.

Others too, are building great castles and fair,

Others too, are as noble and grand as was mine,

But alas! they fade as do bright rainbows

But some day my castle that vanished away

May come again after the fierce storms are o'er,

But in more grand and resplendent form,

Forever to stand on an evergreen shore.

Perhaps it is well we have visions so fair,

And but for castles built for our brief day,

That we see how transient are all of earth's joys.

And for those visions that ne'er pass away.

A Little Girl and Her Chickens.

Bethel, Mo., April 13, 1914.

DEAR EDITOR AND GIRLS AND BOYS:

I will write about my chickens. I set a hen in a nest and put 15 eggs under her and she hatched 8 and they are very cunning. The hen's name is Ellen and the chickens' names are, Iida, Ida,

Methel, Bessie, Blanche, Eva, Ellen.

We put the hen and chickens in the house and made a little house for them and the hen is back.

So goodbye,

GREENWOOD.

Mrs. Elvira J. Cole, wife of Ransom Cole, passed quietly away at her home, in Greenwood Center, April 1. Cause of death, a shock.

Funeral services were held at the school house the following Friday, Apr. 3, conducted by Mr. Andrews, undertaker of South Woodstock, divine services by Rev. E. H. Stover of Bryant Pond.

The flowers were very beautiful, seventy-seven white pinks were presented by the children (she was seventy-seven years of age) with the words "To Mother;" a wreath of roses and foliage by her husband; also two pillows of flowers were sent from Massachusetts; one by Dr. Alfred C. Tuell of Haverhill and the others by the Tuell family.

Mrs. Cole was born in Greenwood, May 12, 1836, and as far as known has lived in that town ever since. She was the daughter of Daniel and Diana Cole. She was twice married. Her first husband was Solomon Farr, and five children were born to them, two daughters of whom died when infants, the three sons, Simeon, Charles and Willard, are still living, the youngest having lived in the insane asylum at Augusta nearly thirty years.

During the Civil war Solomon Farr enlisted and was killed on the battlefield in defending our country. For her second husband she married Ransom Cole and they became the parents of seven children, four sons and three daughters. Their names are Mary A., Elmer K., Alphonso G., Daniel R., Stanton R., Nellie M. and Lucretia C. All are living and all are married and have families but one, Elmer K., who got hurt in a dynamite explosion (working on the Bird Hill road in Greenwood) June 3, 1908, and has been in poor health ever since. It injured the optic nerve of both eyes so he had to have them removed.

There are twenty-seven grandchildren, eleven great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

Interment at Hicks cemetery, Greenwood Center.

Don't Sleep Well. No Good Reason Just Can't Sleep

Some people can't sleep. There seems to be no special reason. They have no disease of the nervous system. Digestion is fairly good. Their habits are pretty good. They may smoke a little or drink a little, yet their habits are fair. Still they can't sleep well.

Just a little unbalanced in the nerve centers. That is all. They should have a little "righting up."

A tonic will generally do this. The right sort of a tonic. Peruna is exactly the tonic. Digestion is hurried, by Peruna. The stomach is empty and ready to rest for the night. The circulation is equalized. The brain is relieved of all congestions and irritations.

The Peruna acts on every blood vessel in the system. It acts on all of the nerve centers. One begins to sleep and hardly knows why.

Take a teaspoonful to one tablespoonful of Peruna before each meal. Sometimes another tablespoonful at bedtime is necessary, where the sleeplessness is very pronounced.

Just try it, neighbor. You will be glad if you do. One bottle will convince you. Peruna is no sleep medicine. It is not a narcotic. It contains no narcotics. It is nothing of that sort. It is simply a regulative tonic.

Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "Tills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

The Agricultural Fair.

Hon. John A. Roberts tells How Care Should be Exercised in Granting State Stipend to Fairs.

"We recommend that all shows at fairs be carefully scrutinized before they are admitted, and that all indecent or immoral shows be refused admission to the grounds under any circumstances."

Stated Commissioner of Agriculture John A. Roberts of Norway. "The officials should as carefully scrutinize each game that asks admission to its grounds, and require a guarantee that no gambling nor a game of chance and that it is not a gambling device or game of chance will be used on the grounds by it."

"The managers of a fair are very busy people and we recommend that the larger fairs employ one or more persons, constables perhaps, whose only duty it shall be to see to it that the State in regard to gambling and the sale of intoxicating liquors are diligently enforced."

"In case of a complaint and evidence showing that the law against gambling, games of chance, or the sale of intoxicating liquors has been violated on the ground of any fair at its exhibition, the managers of the fair should be in a position to show that they have been diligent in trying to keep their grounds clear of all such violations. They ought also to be prepared to have the violators of these laws promptly arrested, charges filed against them before the proper court, and evidence furnished the court to secure their conviction."

"In this connection we wish to say that all fair officials have shown a disposition to keep their fairs clean. It might be well for the Legislature to require an annual meeting of the fair associations to be held in connection with this department, for the consideration of matters that are of common interest, the same to be held before premium lists are issued. The attendance at such meetings by a representative of a society might be made a prerequisite for obtaining the stipend, and to prevent this being a hardship upon small societies the expense might be taken from the appropriation for stipends."

"The annual exhibitions of the various agricultural societies have been up to the usual standard, with an occasional exception, while a few have attained a higher excellence than ever before. The officers of these associations devote very much time and ability to making their fairs successful and pleasing to their patrons. The associations at Lewiston, Waterville and Bangor receive special appropriations from the State, the amount given to Lewiston, and Waterville being $2,500 each, and to Bangor $1,750.

"The State pays a stipend to other regularly organized societies, numbering about forty. The sum received by a society is dependent upon the amount of premiums paid by it, compared with the amount of premiums paid to all societies. The total paid out for these fairs during the past year was $14,828 and the largest sum paid to any society was $1,817.30, to the Northern Maine Fair Association at Presque Isle, and the smallest was $18.68, to the Embury Agricultural Society."

"There are also a large number of local fairs held by Granges and other organizations which do not draw stipends. Some of these latter are real cattle shows, while others confine their work to horticultural exhibits. The latter enter very largely into the conduct of these shows. Many of them secure speakers on farm questions. They are clean, healthy, farm fairs and are of much value to the nearby community. One of these which I had the pleasure of attending had 175 head of neat cattle and a large number of horses and other stock. The hall exhibit was also very fine. Another one I attended had a large hall crowded with fruit and other high quality of high quality. They held open for two days and had several speakers in attendance. Other fairs of this class have done equally well."

"Of the fairs paid a State stipend, the most are doing good work. There are, however, a limited number that, for one reason or another are in a very bad shape. There are also a few fairs of this class that have no really good excuse for further existence."

"We recommend to societies receiving State stipend that they give larger attention to farm crops. More and larger premiums should be offered. Whenever practicable, premiums should be offered on animals of either sex for work continued over a period of a year or more, such animals and the results of their work, to be shown at the annual fair. Inducements should be made to bring in work of school as is now done by a few societies. Arts and manufacturers should receive greater attention and encouragement, especially by the larger societies. We call attention to the fact that there are a few fairs that pay altogether too little attention to the stock interests of their section."

"The matter of proper sanitation should receive more attention on many grounds. The midway is a much discussed subject. Many fair officials make it altogether too prominent a feature. We think that fair officials should see that there are on their grounds sufficient places where good food and drink may be obtained by its patrons and that such places be maintained under proper sanitary conditions."

BROWNFIELD.

Mrs. Hattie Sands was home from Denmark, where she has a position as nurse, for a few days this week.

Mrs. Carrie Moses of Lynn, is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gray and assisting in the preparations for their golden wedding.

About nine inches of snow fell Wednesday and many were out for sleigh rides. Sunday the thermometer registered about 65 degrees all day ending with a heavy thunder shower in the evening.

The ladies of the Congregational Circle served an Easter supper at the town hall, Wednesday evening. The tables were prettily decorated with yellow and white crepe paper, and eggs cooked in many and varied ways, together with pastry, creamed potato and toast were the principal dishes. The committee in charge of the supper were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Spring, Mrs. Will Davis and Mrs. Andrew Blake.

Owing to local conditions "Everybody to church" Sunday was observed April 19. At the morning service of the Congregational church about 125 were present and listened with much interest to an able sermon by the pastor, Rev. L. F. MacDonald. At the Universalist church in the afternoon, about 100 were present and heard the pastor, Rev. H. H. Hoyt give an address on "Why men do not go to church" and Rev. L. F. MacDonald on "Why men do go to church."

There was special music for the occasion with solos by Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Helen Wakefield, and the service will be long remembered by all present for its enthusiasm and spiritual uplift.

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day in the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction.

Scott's Emulsion is used in tuberculosis camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

An old gentleman called upon a schoolmistress, told her his name and declared that he had not seen her for thirty years. As he pressed her hand and gazed into her face he murmured audibly, "Aye, and a bonnie lassie ye were then; but, ah, what time does?"

Aunt Polly's Day.

Part Two. New Style.

Now these poor bees could have all been saved, and many of their hives taken from them, and they would have had enough, too, for their winter supply. They had a large lot stored for winter. Had they been in good moveable frame hives, with boxes and sections, how easy it would have been to have saved all in a nice satisfactory condition to all concerned, as it was the bees had to starve to death, and Aunt Polly got only the honey.

As I write today I am seated beside a nice hive of Italian bees in my room. This may seem strange to you, indeed it did to me at first, I thought I could not have them so near me and especially in the house, but I do really enjoy their company. They are so arranged in a neat glass hive, I can take a peep right into their living room, and see just how they keep house. It is truly wonderful to see how nice and orderly their work goes on. Two large squares of glass and two smaller ones form the walls of this nice bee hive. There is a cap which can be put on any time, but I keep it off most of the time for I enjoy it so much. The window is raised just a little then the hive set up against that, of course with the entrance of the hive set close to that. There are two frames with two sections above. The bees are working trying to fill them with honey. This long dry spell is not favorable for them, and I have fed them some.

In some of the western states they have large apiaries having four or five hundred hives, and hire a man to spend his time among them. A great deal of money is made in that business, if it proves to be a favorable season.

We used to take a bee journal and keep well informed about this most interesting business, when we were keeping bees. Many a sweet bit did we often have the opportunity of taking to our own table for friends to have a taste, and without killing any of the busy little workers in their home nest.

COAL MINING MACHINES.

Much More Economical Than the Old Handwork Method.

Coal is mined by the aid of three classes of air driven machines—first, common drills, such as are used for rock drilling; second, pick machines, which work on much the same principles as air drills, but which are larger and are used for cutting continuous slots instead of holes, and, third, continuous cutters, which work with a rotary instead of a reciprocating motion.

The production of bituminous coal by machines in the United States dates commercially from 1891, when 545 machines cut 6,211,000 tons of coal, or 6.66 per cent of the entire output. In 1910 174,012,000 short tons, or 41.7 per cent of the total production, were mined by machines, of which 13,254 were in use.

The reasons for mining by machines instead of by hand are many and are often complicated by local conditions. In general they are about as follows:

First, the actual cost of mining is lower; second, the quality of the product is superior; third, the industry is attended with less danger, and working conditions are improved, and, fourth, the mine may be more rapidly developed and the production increased.

In mines of the Pittsburgh thin vein district, where 230 miners would get out 700 tons of coal per day by hand, fifteen pick machines would do the same work.

The cost of the entire plant for running the machines would be about $14,000, and the yearly maintenance would cost about $5,500. The saving would amount to about 15 cents per ton of coal, or $21,000 total in a year of 200 days.

Oil Fuel on Railroads.

The use of oil fuel on the railroads and in the United States navy and merchant marine service is rapidly increasing. The transcontinental railroads are now using oil fuel on many miles of line. Some of the railroads in the northwestern part of the United States and in southern Canada held to coal for a considerable period after the permanency of the oil supply was assured. The last tie to coal became broken with the realization that the failure of their immense locomotives to move the weight that had been confidently expected of them was not the fault of the machines. The weight of trains over the mountain divisions was invariably limited to the endurance of the fireman. Shoveling coal on the large engines over these divisions is a task that few can stand up to. With the use of oil as fuel this feature was entirely removed.

Leaky Tire Valves.

A cause of leaky tire valves which is not always appreciated is the fact that sometimes the wire pins are a little too long. When this is the case and the valve cap is screwed home the rubber washer in the head of the valve cap is forced a little way down the hollow valve stem and touches the wire pin. The remedy is, of course, obvious; it is simply to take out the valve wire and slip a little off it with wire pliers. At the same time it should not be shortened more than is absolutely necessary; otherwise it is difficult to get a reading from the tire pressure gauge when it is applied to the valve.

The First Mourning Paper.

The oldest known letter written on black edged note paper as a sign of mourning appears to be one dated Jan. 6, 1688. In Addison's comedy of "The Drummer," 1715, reference is made to the fashion in the words, "My lady's mourning paper that is blacked at the edges." A few years later Allan Ramsay, who died in 1768, speaks in one of his poems of "the sable bordered sheet" as a messenger of sorrow. Mann, writing from Italy to Horace Walpole in 1745, says it was universal use in Florence at that time.

STORY AND A HALF BUNGALOW.

Design 752, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FLOOR PLAN.

The style of exterior of this bungalow admits of cement, shingle or clapboard. The piazza could be finished as a sun parlor, and this would add materially to the living accommodations.

Upon receipt of $1 the publisher of this paper will furnish a copy of Saxton's book of plans, "American Dwellings." It contains about 250 up to date designs of cottages, bungalows and residences costing from $1,000 to $8,000.

Out Stepped a Funny Old Woman.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Witch And the Cedar Chest.

"I AM going to tell you tonight," said daddy, "a story about a little girl named Gretchen. She lived way off in Germany. She was very pretty, with yellow hair and big blue eyes. She was quite fat, too, and had a very jolly nature and laughed a great deal.

"Gretchen's mother and daddy had both died when she was very young, so Gretchen lived with her grandmother and granddaddy. She was very happy and had lots of little friends to play with all the time. In the evenings before she went to bed her granddaddy always told her lovely fairy stories, and when she went to bed she'd dream she was with the fairies, playing games with them and dancing about as fairies do.

"In the attic of her home were a great many strange and quaint old things, but the thing which seemed to hold more mystery than anything else was an old cedar chest covered with horsehair. Gretchen never dared look in the chest for some reason she couldn't understand herself, though she often wondered what really was inside.

"One night after her granddaddy had been telling her one of his wonderful stories and her grandmother had tucked her in her soft white bed Gretchen still felt very wide awake. But before long she fell asleep, and a strange dream came to her.

"She dreamed she was up in the attic looking at everything in turn, but more than anything else she was gazing at the old cedar chest and wondering what could be within it. And as she was looking the lid opened, and out stepped a funny old woman with a wrinkled face. She wore a black shawl over her shoulders and a great big pointed black hat on her head.

"Gretchen was sure she was a witch. Soon she spoke in a very soft, clear voice, not at all gruffly, as Gretchen imagined she would speak.

"Little Gretchen, I have known you were always very curious to learn what was in the cedar chest. I live in it and have for years and years, for I am very, very old, as you can see. But my voice does not sound old because I am very happy, and so it does not get the chance to grow old. When you're asleep I come out of my chest and go to the parties the fairies give. Tonight I've come to tell you you must never be afraid of the old cedar chest, but you must never look inside it. If you did my voice would change into the voice of an old woman, too, and that would make me very sad."

"So Gretchen promised, and the next day when she looked at the chest it did not frighten her, but she kept her promise and did not try to open the top, for she knew that would spoil the witch's greatest happiness—her voice, which was not old like her wrinkled face."

BRAVERY.

It is not necessary to be brutal to be brave. All the world loves a brave man, but the courage that is seasoned with cheerfulness is the best courage. Great is the man who can bear a misfortune without trying to shrink it. Greater is he who can laugh at it and carry his cross as if it were a royal banner.

Two Points of View.

"American women spend more money on clothes today than they ever spent—and very much more than they should spend in many cases," said a Fifth Avenue modiste. "A $200 dress worn by the wife of a man whose income is, say, $100 a week, looks unbecoming and extravagant. One of my customers, wearing for the first time an imported robe trimmed with skunk, said to her husband, with whom she was walking:

"How people stare at my new dress! I suppose they wonder if I've been shopping in Paris."

"More likely," her husband replied, "they wonder if I've been embezzling."—New York Tribune.

The Stick For Wives.

In the old Anglo-Norman marriage ceremony the gentlewoman used to promise her husband to be "buxom."

"unto my gentil manne." The word buxom corresponds to the modern German biegsam, meaning bending or pliant, and the old English was "buskum."

all of which goes to show that things must have been very pleasantly ordered in the good old days that are dead and gone. According to the old English law, which is still unrescinded in the statute book, the "gentil manne" was allowed to beat his good wife with a stick the diameter of which did not exceed a quarter of an inch.—New York World.

Walking on Your Hat.

"Nothing is wasted in this house" is the proud remark which you may often hear from the lips of an expert housekeeper. It is a boast, however, that few people could really justify.

Take the case of a worn-out derby hat. In the majority of instances this discarded article of headgear finds its way to the rubbish heap or perhaps into the hands of a passing tramp.

If only people were aware of the fact, the most excellent felt soles for the inside of their boots and slippers are thus being discarded. These soles can be cut from the sides of an old hat and are much more comfortable than the ordinary cork ones.

SLEEP DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers
Find Relief After A Few Doses Are Taken

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism, are caused from weak, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause.

The new discovery, Croxone, cures such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, lifeless kidneys so they filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

Fresh Tobacco Never Bites; Dry, Cut-up Tobacco Does

Only when the natural moisture dries out of tobacco can a "bite" get into it. In the Sickle plug, all the moisture, flavor and fragrance are pressed in and kept in by the natural leaf wrapper. Every pipeful you whittle off the plug is fresh—so you always get a slow-burning, cool, sweet, satisfying smoke.

If you want your tobacco already cut up for you, in packages, you have to be content with dry tobacco, that burns fast and hot, and bites your tongue.

That's why experienced smokers cut up their own tobacco, from the Sickle plug. They get more tobacco, because they don't pay for a package—and better tobacco, because it's always fresh.

Bachelor Tells Why He Is Afraid to Marry.
A letter written by a bachelor of thirty to a newly engaged girl, who abandoned a promising literary career. Some efficient wives will resent the writer's attitude; many will admit the truth of what he says. A part of the letter follows:

"You have probably chosen as difficult a career as the one you made a start in, only the world doesn't put it that way. For in the wife's job the standards of success are low, while in the literary job they are high.

"Wifehood is a profession and a solemn one. This is an age of efficiency. We Americans are sacrificing our lives on the altar of efficiency. My work makes me an efficient engineer, and when I am asked why I don't marry, I never like to give the true reason. The reason for whom you have the right feeling do not come up to your standard of efficiency as wives, home-makers, stimulants, companions, advisers. How can I be wrapped up in the efficiency craze all day and come home to find less practical efficiency than in any plant of mine I am connected with?

"And the women themselves are to blame for this, for they have not looked at wifehood as a profession ever progressing, but have looked upon it as a privilege. A man's work to-day is harder than it was in the past. A woman's work has been made easier. She has not progressed with the times. Fifteen per cent of her energy is misdirected, so much the more, it will lift us for the time being at least, above the rest of the crowd, pushing, grunting human swine, that are intent on getting their own share of the 'swill' and as much more as possible. (And oh, what a sequel the loser puts up.)

"Come, give a little for Sweet Charity's sake. It won't hurt you any if you take a few deep inhalations of love and good will as an anesthetic to dull the keenest pangs. You'll realize after it's all over, you were foolish to dread it so. And it will be one item 'to the good' that you can take with you through the gates. So loosen up. Go to it. Give!

CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

wanted come down, and sometimes unpleasant things are heard, which were not meant for the listeners ears.

Give.

Give, give, give! Of your time, of your strength, and of your money. The memory of deeds of loving kindness is all we can take with us when at last we lie down to pleasant dreams."

"There is no pocket in the shroud" we are told, and the time will come when our only wealth will be the few deeds of unselfishness that the best of us will find, will look mightily lonesome amongst the wasted opportunities of a lifetime.

I don't think many of us look on ourselves as being mean or illiberal, but when I read some statistics lately of how we, as a nation, spend our money, and found Charity at the foot of the list, about one per cent of what we spend for Candy alone, it made me feel that I could never look Candy in the face again. And what we spend for wines, liquors and cigars, I blush to think. "Cold as Charity." There is nothing much colder for a fact.

There used to be "tithing men" in old times. What a howl would go up now, if we were required to give up a tenth of our income, as did the Children of Israel. Talk about the Income tax!

Very few of us, however, but can spare something from our possessions to help a neighbor less favored, and not feel the difference by the end of the year. And if we make a little self-sacrifice to do it, so much the better. It will lift us for the time being at least, above the rest of the crowd, pushing, grunting human swine, that are intent on getting their own share of the "swill" and as much more as possible. (And oh, what a sequel the loser puts up.)

Come, give a little for Sweet Charity's sake. It won't hurt you any if you take a few deep inhalations of love and good will as an anesthetic to dull the keenest pangs. WEST PARIS.

Myrtle Healey of Mt. Vernon is here, visiting her sister, Mrs. G. A. Smith.
Mrs. A. D. Swift entertained the Jolly Twelve whist club last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Jennie Andrews, who has been with her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Mann, through the winter, has returned to her home in Bryant Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brook and her mother, Mrs. S. K. Estes, were called to South Paris, last week, to attend the funeral of their niece and granddaughter, Avis Hammond.

Mrs. Lucy Dearborn, who sold her place last fall, is to have an auction. Mrs. Dearborn spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Brown, in Rumford. She is here now, visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. Ricker.

Auctions! Last week there was one to report and this week there are two. A sign of spring. This season of all in the year brings about the most changes, cleanings up, buying and selling of homes and swapping routes.

Rev. O. H. Young has returned from conference and will remain with the M. E. church the coming year, which is very pleasant news to all, and especially to his people. His family will move into the parsonage as soon as Mr. Barrows moves out.

Mrs. W. H. Emery and son, Truman, went to Lewiston, Saturday, and accompanied her son, Carl, home from the hospital, where he has been for about five weeks. The burns are healing as fast as can be expected. He is walking about wherever he wishes but is not very strong yet.

W. E. Bryant will have an auction at his farm on High street, Wednesday, April 29. Mr. Bryant has been a successful meat cart trader for more than 20 years, making weekly visits to South Paris, Paris Hill and West Paris, and his familiar cart and genial face will be missed by all his customers.

Guy A. Smith has sold his store, stock in trade and residence to Edgar L. Barrows and Willard E. Bryant, who are to take possession as soon as the account of stock is taken and rents vacated. Mrs. Barrows will occupy the rent next to the postoffice building and Mrs. Bryant the one now occupied by A. D. Swift. The firm name will be Barrows & Bryant.

Mrs. Gertrude Stewart has gone to the C. M. G. hospital for surgical treatment. She has been very poorly for a year or two and of late has been worse, and an operation was decided upon as the only direct remedy. Her sister, Emma Swan of Auburn, came home Saturday afternoon and remained to accompany her to Lewiston, Wednesday. Clara Hall is keeping house for Mr. Swan in her absence.

Miss Spencer and Miss Goddard, the primary and next higher grade teachers, are boarding this term at H. S. Mann. Miss Goddard gave a surprise birthday party to her friend, Miss Spencer, Monday evening, at their boarding place. Refreshments of sherbet, fancy crackers, confectionery, and a very pretty birthday cake surrounded by 22 candles were served.

A sociable and box supper was held in Centennial hall by the High school, last week, Wednesday evening, for the benefit of a school library. Coffee was served with the boxes which were sold at auction, the gentlemen bidding on the shadows of the young ladies. Some went as high as $2. All had a good time playing games until 10.30, the time set for breaking up. Their bills or post-ers were quite novel, the whole being written in rhyme. The ladies who failed to carry boxes had to pay ten cents.

The Chickadee baseball nine have re-organized for the third year with Herbert Gardner for captain, Herbert Hill, manager and Frank Packard, secretary and treasurer. The High school teacher encouraged them and they went about with a paper as usual to solicit funds for their equipment and found the citizens ready to help them, and they received a good little sum which made great enthusiasm among the school boys. They went to South Paris last Saturday, and played with the Grammar school team in the big school yard. They had a close, hard game but won out, 9 to 8, and came home feeling that they had had a good time and still kept their reputation as the winning Chickadee team.

The W. C. T. U. held an executive meeting last Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Lizzie E. Lane, when the superintendents for the coming year were appointed and committees chosen for the coming county convention which is to meet here and will be held in the Universalist church, May 26. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. Bates, May 7, and the subject of the meeting will be a Memorial to the beloved leader, Mrs. L. M. Stevens. Many wished to attend the Maine W. C. T. U. memorial service at City Hall, Saturday afternoon, April 25. Coy. Haines and other distinguished persons will speak and special music has been arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Roberts, who live in Willis' mill house, are feeling happy over the birth of a little son born last Friday night, April 17.

Mrs. Otis Curtis went to South Paris, Saturday, and remained until Tuesday afternoon with her brother's wife, Mrs. Everett Abbott, who is very sick.

The I. O. O. F. had a specially large meeting, Saturday night. They had invited Mt. Mica Lodge of South Paris to visit them and over seventy came up by special train and marched to beat of drums to the hall. Mt. Mica Lodge conferred the first degree on three candidates for the West Paris Lodge, using a team of forty men in the work, which was done in fine shape. A banquet was served in the dining hall and it was nearly midnight when their guests departed.

George Emmons lost about twelve cords of pulp wood in the fresher, Monday night. He was not able to get it hauled during the sledding season so he put it into the river a few miles above here and built a boom of logs across the river above the dam here to hold it. He had not thought to hurry to get it out after it got here, not expecting any more high water, but the heat Sunday and the rain of Monday made the river rise and the pulp wood was driven over and under the boom until nearly all was lost down stream.

Hon. Frank A. Millett received the nomination for postmastership at the primary election of the democratic party. George F. Needham and C. Winfield Cole were also candidates.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to medicine. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JENNIE AKERMAN, c/o Rev. K. AKERMAN, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Hale and Hearty

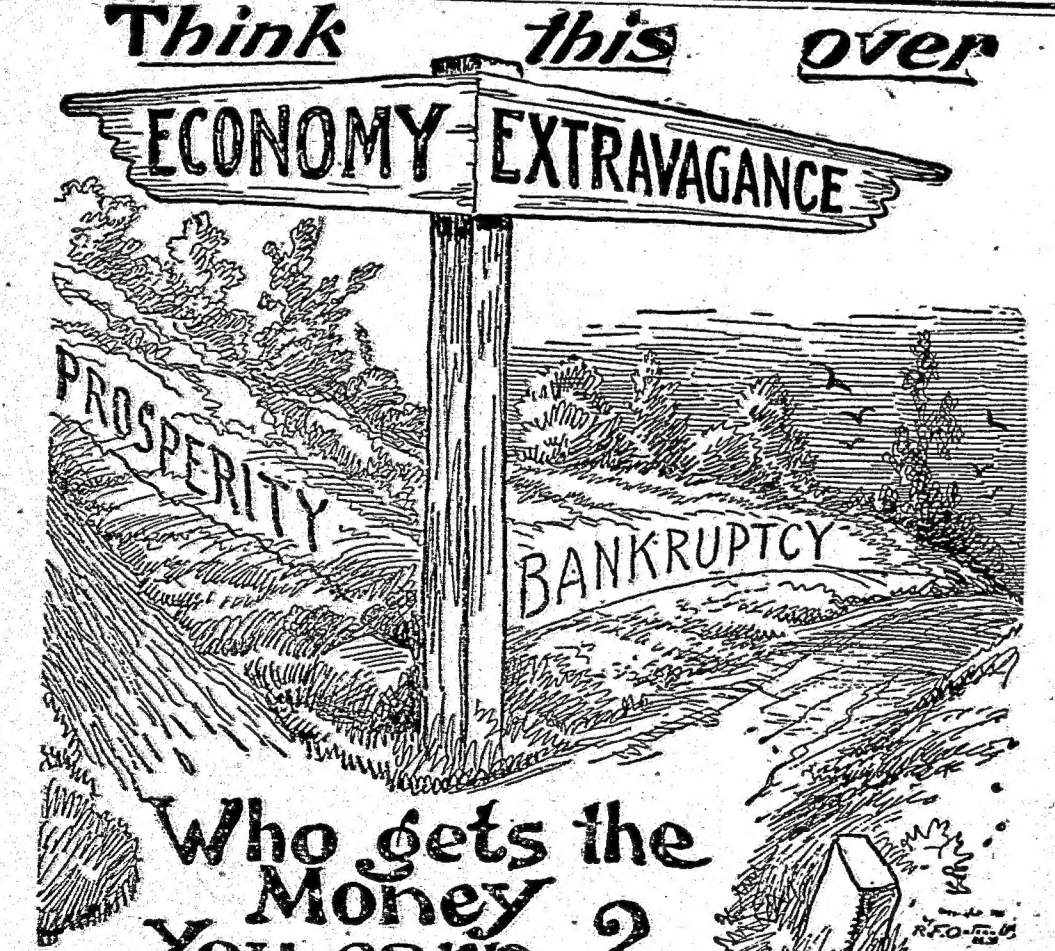

G. W. Heath of South Windham, Maine, is 90 years "young"—and still hale and hearty. For 60 years, he has used "L. F." Atwood's Medicine, and his personal recollections of Mr. Atwood are very interesting:

"For more than 60 years 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine has been a family remedy in my household. At the age of 90, I am still using it, and my six children use it from time to time. I bought it first from L. F. Atwood himself in 1850, when he sold it from house to house. I hope others get as much benefit as I have from the use of this medicine." (Signed) G. W. Heath.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

What Our Neighbors Say.
The Bath Times says editorially: Little Norway, Maine, is an example for old Bath to follow in the matter of its greatest prosperity, population and trade. Some time ago Norway felt the need of getting a hustle on and obtained an offer from a big manufacturing concern, the present new shoe factory there, who wanted $25,000 in cash and other business into the town to move its factory. The proposition was looked into and believed to be desirable and the bank in the town promptly put up $15,000 of the cash needed and inside of 24 hours Norway's public spirited citizens had subscribed the balance of $10,000. More than that the town gave the new concern the factory which they are housed in, rent free and exempted the new concern from taxation for the period of ten years. Bath is slow about raising a paltry $14,000 for the proposition, which is more business like than that of Norway, as it would appear. Little Norway is to be congratulated upon the public spirit and generosity of her townspeople. In Norway in her effort, four men gave $1,000 each, and one man $2,000 for their subscriptions to the fund.
